Governor Honors Entire State Library Staff

Gov. Stan Stephens presented an Excellence in Performance Award to the entire staff of the Montana State Library during a ceremony Feb. 20 in the Capitol rotunda.

As part of the first annual Employee Recognition Day, the award was designed to honor state employees' commitment to quality public service.

The award plaque will be displayed in the State Library reception area.

Anaconda Library Faces Severe Budget Crunch

The Hearst Free Library in Anaconda is trying to survive until next year on about half its usual budget.

When the Anaconda-Deer Lodge County Commission voted last year to cut the budget by removing the library fund from the general fund, the library automatically received 5 mills, or about $43,000, which is approximately half its annual budget of about $80,000.

Library director Deni Corrigan said a special resolution will be on the November general election ballot asking voters to contribute an extra 4 mills to bring the library budget back into line.

But even if the resolution passes, the extra money won't be available to the library until June of 1991.

Corrigan said the library will cut magazine subscriptions, ask patrons to "adopt" magazine subscriptions and switch over to an economy book-purchase plan.

She indicated that further budget-cutting measures are up in the air.

"The problem is nobody has had to deal with anything like this, so nobody knows what comes next," she said.

Draft ILL Protocols Ready

Draft Interlibrary Loan protocols and a response sheet for comments are now available from the State Library.

After several recommendations that such protocols be implemented, State Library staff members Barbara Ridgway and Darlene Stafield volunteered to compile them.

For copies of the draft protocols and the response sheet, contact Diane Gunderson at 444-5349.

Casterline Joins Library Services Advisory Council

Evelyn Casterline has been appointed by the Montana State Library Commission to represent the Golden Plains Federation on the Montana Library Services Advisory Council.

Casterline, of Culbertson, replaces Johnette Grefe of Reserve, who resigned.

Questionnaire Results

The children's services questionnaire sent out in late January revealed the following:

Of 73 libraries responding by the February 16 deadline, 54 indicated they currently have summer reading programs, 17 said they do not, and 51 said they would participate in a statewide summer reading program.

Robert Cooper

Cooper Signs On To Organize Conference

Robert Cooper has contracted with the State Library to organize the Governor's Conference on Library and Information Services to be held in Helena this fall or winter.

Originally from Chicago, Cooper has lived in the Helena area since 1986. He has taught community college courses in Oklahoma, has a recreation management degree from Southern Illinois University and is now working on a master's in human services from the College of Great Falls. He is also board chair of the Friends of the Lewis & Clark Public Library.

Cooper will work part-time for a few months and then go to full-time later this summer. He can be reached at 444-5350.

New Resources Available

The following books are available from the State Library:

- "Online Information Services For Secondary Students," 2nd edition, by Elizabeth Smith Aversa, Jacqueline C. Mancall and Diane Oesau, published by the American Library Association and the ERIC Clearinghouse on Information Resources, 1989.

- "Policymaking For School Library Media Programs," by Marian Karpisek, published by ALA, 1989.

- "Matrix For Curriculum Planning In Library Media and Information Skills Education," by M. Elaine Anderson and Cindy Alley, published by the Wisconsin Dept. of Public Instruction, 1989.

- "Checklist of Library Building Design Considerations," edited by William W. Sannwald and Robert S. Smith, published by Library Administration and Management Association, division of ALA, 1988.

Call Information Resources at the State Library (444-3004) if you are interested in any of these titles.

Statutes Govern ILL Reimbursement Process

Several questions have arisen about how public libraries should handle ILL reimbursement revenue once their budgets for the year are already in place.

The State Library has determined that there are two statutes in the codes dealing with this issue, one for county libraries and one for city libraries. They allow county commissioners or city councils to appropriate money received from federal or state government regardless of when it is received.

The statutes also say, "The expenditure of said funds shall be according to federal requirements specified in the federal act or state requirements specified in the state legislation."

The specific codes are 7-6-2218 MCA (county) and 7-6-421 MCA (city). These are the statutes library boards should use if they are experiencing difficulty in receiving revenue from HB 193 for ILL reimbursement.

For more information, contact Sheila Cates at the State Library, 444 5353.

Computer Bulletin Board Accesses Health Data

Five Montana health science information specialists are providing specialized medical library services through HEALTHCON, an electronic bulletin board developed by the Montana Area Health Education Center in Bozeman.

To access the HEALTHCON library, call toll-free 1-800-544-2507. There is a fee to reimburse the library for time, copying, telephone, postage and computer search costs.

Upcoming Conferences

A workshop on Intergenerational Programming, or how to break down barriers between children's and adults services, will be held May 7 and 8 in Spokane and May 10 and 11 in Seattle.

The presenter is Rhea Joyce Rubin, an independent consultant and trainer.

For more information, call the UW Graduate School of Library and Information Science at 206-543-2310.

The 6th annual National Bookmobile Conference will take place June 3-5 in Columbus, Ohio. Call 614-644-7061 for details.

Miami University in Oxford, Ohio, will hold middle and advanced management programs for library administrators in July and September of this year.

For more information, call Lori Beier at 513-529-2132.

Literacy Volunteers of America, Inc., will have an annual conference November 14-17 at the Red Lion in Salt Lake City.

For more information, call 315-445-8000.

Libraries Urged To Observe Earth Day

The 20th anniversary of Earth Day will take place April 22, and libraries are being asked to help encourage individual action for environmental protection through special book displays and other activities.

State Librarian Richard Miller will be sending a letter to libraries asking that they display books on recycling, global warming, landfill problems, etc., host a forum and institute recycling efforts during the week of Earth Day.

Jon Sesso, director of the State Library's Natural Resource Information System and a member of the statewide Earth Day planning committee, said libraries have a special role to play during the Earth Day observance.

"Libraries can be a focal point to promote environmental awareness in their communities because access to information is the key to action," he said.

Livingston Library Hosts Student Poetry Program

On February 27, the Livingston Public Library hosted a program for high school students entitled "An Evening of Verse."

Participants included MSU professor Melody Zajdel, poet Greg Keeler, Livingston attorney Arnold Huppert and high school students. A poetry contest was held with winning poems read and prizes awarded.

Library director June Phillips said the event will probably be held annually. The program was videotaped and may be borrowed.

Dr. Sherrilynne Fuller

Fuller To Explain Clinical Research Methods At MLA

Dr. Sherrilynne Fuller, director of the Health Sciences Library at the University of Washington, will teach Montana medical librarians how to develop objective criteria for judging clinical trial literature during the Montana Library Association conference in Great Falls.

Fuller, who has a Ph.D. in library and information management from the University of Southern California and an M.L.S. from Indiana University, will discuss clinical trial research methods on Tuesday, April 24.

Special Libraries Grants Available For 1990

The Special Libraries Association will fund $10,000 in grants this year for projects ranging from research studies to continuing education programs.

The deadline for submitting applications is June 1. For more information contact Tobin Brimsek at SLA, 202-234-4700.

Librarians Sought For Overseas Fellowships

The American Library Association and the U.S. Information Agency are sponsoring eight fellowships for librarians to work overseas beginning in September 1990.

The positions are in either public or academic libraries. Fellowships pay $28,000 per year, and travel expenses for the fellow and one dependent are reimbursed.

Deadline for indicating interest is April 15. For more information, contact Cathy Siegner at 444-5353.

Pauli Named New Head Librarian In Missoula

David Pauli, an Oregon native who is director of the Northern Waters Library Service in Ashland, Wis., will be the new head librarian at the Missoula Public Library.

Pauli, 43, is expected to start his new job June 11 after his daughter graduates from high school.

He replaces Ted Schmidt, who left Missoula last fall to become director of the public library in Loveland, Colo.

Kathleen Bartlett will continue as interim library director until Pauli arrives.
